

Marija Konjevic

A highly experienced IT expert, currently serving as the Director of the Agency for Electronic Communications and Postal Services. With over 15 years of experience in IT and electronic communications, she has led numerous projects that have modernized the Agency's digital services for both internal operations and external users.

She graduated from the Faculty of Science and Mathematics at the University of Montenegro in 2009 and has expanded her expertise through roles at MG Soft and the Agency, as well as through various certifications in IT, electronic communications, and cybersecurity.

As Director, she is focused on adopting cutting-edge technologies, improving regulatory frameworks, and ensuring efficient and transparent operations. Her expertise in IT governance, cybersecurity, and project management drives sustainable digital transformation, while her ability to foster cross-sector collaboration strengthens the Agency's position in an evolving digital landscape.

With extensive experience in the Agency since 2011, she remains dedicated to continuous improvement and innovation.