The BEREC workshop will be live-streamed using a specially designed live-streaming platform – Vbrick. To ensure accessibility, participants can:

- Change the screen size for the presentation and for the active speaker
- Ask live questions to the speakers using the Q&A box

How to use the live-streaming platform

- Open the link to the livestream provided on the BEREC website.
- Choose your Display name, preferably in the format of Name Surname (Organisation), and provide your email address.
- Choose “Sign in as guest”.

How to watch and interact with the livestream

- Use the button on the right side of the video window to change the layout of your view – you can choose to watch only the speakers, only the presentation, or mix both.
- By clicking on the information (i) button on the right side to open the ‘Event Details’ section, you will be able to find the link to any relevant documents and/or details.
- Toggle the speaker button on the right side of the video window to hear the sound.

How to ask live questions to the speakers

- You can ask questions by clicking the Q&A button (?) on the right-side menu. By submitting the question, the event host will be able to see your Display name.
- Your question is public for all the other event attendees to see it as well.
- Note that you may also send your question in advance, by emailing to workshop@berec.europa.eu

What to do if there are interruptions to the livestream

- If there are technical difficulties, the stream will show a notification. Please wait a few minutes for the stream to appear again. Do not refresh the page! If you think that it is taking too long, contact the event host and ask for more information.

Finally...

- Please contact the meeting host (workshop@berec.europa.eu) if you have any questions about the use of the streaming platform.
- The recording of the video will be available after the event. We will inform our subscribers to the stakeholders’ mailing list.
